

Extranet workspace: "Dangerous goods"

The workspace is built around the subjects falling within the purview of the RID Group of Experts as per the group's Internal Regulations. To access the workspace, you must be a registered user of the UIC Extranet and possess specific access rights.

In principle, the workspace contains only documents relating to the work of the network of "dangerous goods" experts. It is not intended as a repository of the official documents issued by European or international bodies. These documents are in the public domain, albeit controlled, and are available via the "dangerous goods" sections of the relevant websites, specifically:

For the Intergovernmental Committee of RID Experts and its various working groups, at:

http://otif.org/en/?page_id=112

and for the UN Sub-Committee and RID-ADR-ADN Joint Meeting and its various working groups, at:

<https://www.unece.org/trans/danger/danger.html>

Any expert with Extranet access may post information for the attention of the network of experts, but the consolidation and administration of such information is the responsibility of the Group of Experts' Steering Committee, which has the access rights required to manage the workspace. This provision is intended to ensure that the principles governing the content of the workspace and the overall consistency of documentation are correctly applied.

Members are informed of new or updated information by the Steering Committee, either in a dedicated email or by a notification from the Extranet directly. To stay abreast of developments, experts may also consult the workspace.
