Railway Talents is a project aiming at:

- Extending the innovation capacity of the railway sector and improving the sector competitiveness by fully using the potential of its talents.
- Facilitating through the creation of a global network the process of knowledge, values and experience sharing between different generations of railway people.

3 top priorities for railway:
Derived from results of the wide-scale stakeholder survey launched at the beginning of the project (170+ stakeholders participating in the survey)

- Assuring knowledge transfer to the next generation
- Developing workforce skills/capabilities
- Retaining valued talent

2 main pillars of Railway Talents: Networking & Training Courses

SIAFI is a dynamic action learning programme designed for future oriented railway professionals with an interest in international cooperation. Teaching team includes UIC leaders, policy and strategic advisors, top professionals and academics. The participants attend a 1-week long session in Paris in spring, followed by a 4-month remote international team project work and the final presentations event in Paris in autumn. For further information please consult: www.uic.org/siafi
Railway Talents stakeholders

Railway Talents is for:

- Railway Talents stakeholders
- The network is supported by a powerful online platform.
- An annual collaborative event is planned to provide opportunities for networking, learning and collaboration.
- The network engages with related targeted initiatives, in particular, the UIC Innovation Awards and the TRA awards.
- The network is an information hub for international railway events such as conferences, workshops, training sessions, seminars, etc.

Rail Uni Net is a world-wide network of universities offering railway education. The purpose of the network is to exchange good practices and work together on rail-related educational and research projects.

The network is run by UIC and coordinated by NewRail. If you would like to join the network or discuss ideas for future collaboration please contact: newrail-education@ncl.ac.uk
